

CHANGEKULTUR – CASE ALLOCATION PROCESS

Digitalization of Business Processes · FHNW · 2026

Team: Cedric Iseli

Dionis Mrlaku

Kanika Mukhija

Pallavi Gowda

Shakunthala Reddy Patlolla

Supervisors: Andreas Martin, Charuta Pande, Devid Montecchiari

Who is CHANGEKULTUR?

Family Coaching

Providing structured coaching to vulnerable families across Switzerland

Youth & Integration

Supporting youth development and multilingual integration programs

Swiss-wide Reach

A Zürich-based NGO operating with a growing network of family coaches

The Challenge: Matching the right coach to the right family - quickly and fairly.

Meet Maria - A Family in Need-Journey Begins

The Situation

Maria, mother of two, recently relocated to Basel. She speaks English and Hindi. Social services refer her to ChangeKultur for family coaching support.

The Request

An administrator at ChangeKultur receives the case. They now need to find the most suitable family coach - someone with the right language, workload and distance.

The Problem

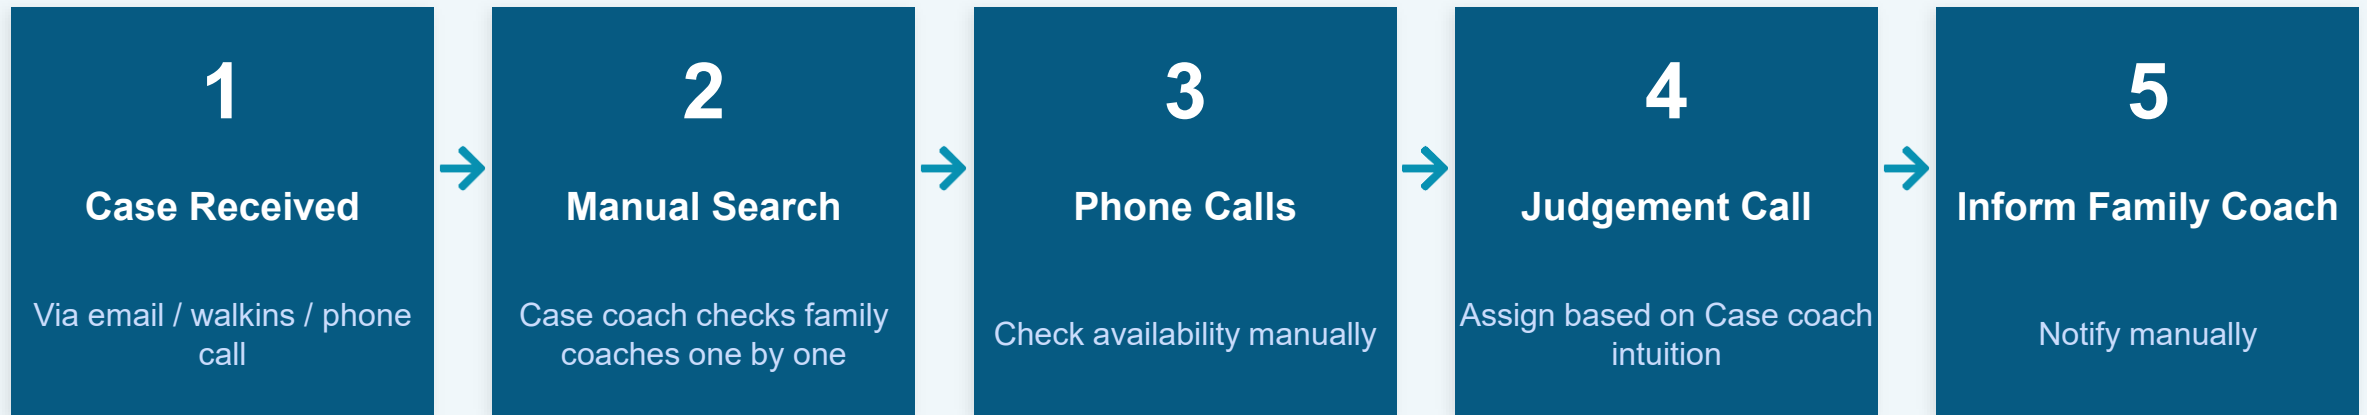

In the current system, this of manual effort, phone calls, and guesswork.

Before a family in need gets support, too much time is lost in manual coordination.

This is the problem we set out to solve.

How Case Allocation Works Today (AS-IS)

No Selection Criteria

Pain Points

Manual Process

Manual search across multiple family coaches takes days of Case coach time

No Transparency

No audit trail of why one coach was chosen over another

No Distance Calc

Travel time between client and coach is manually calculated.

Subjective Matching

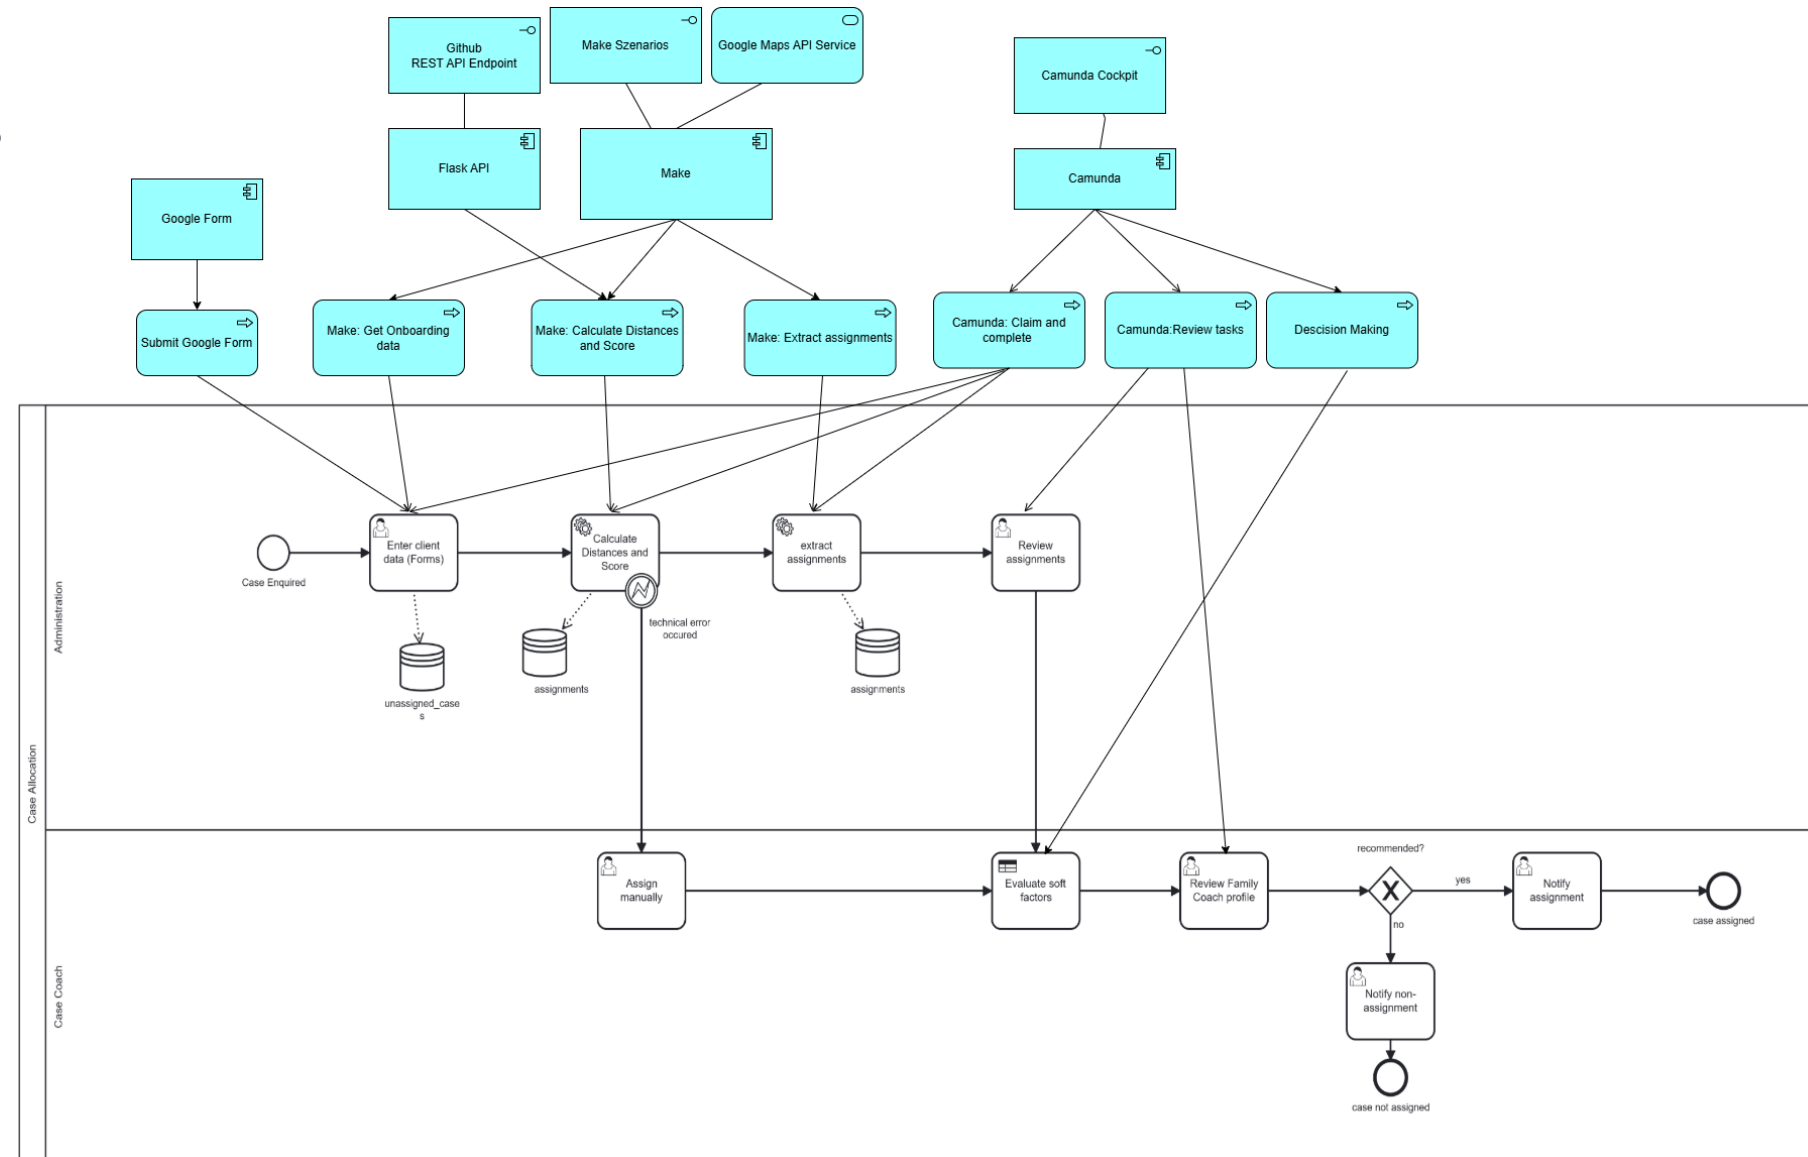

Selection depends on personal knowledge - no selection criteria

No Structured Data

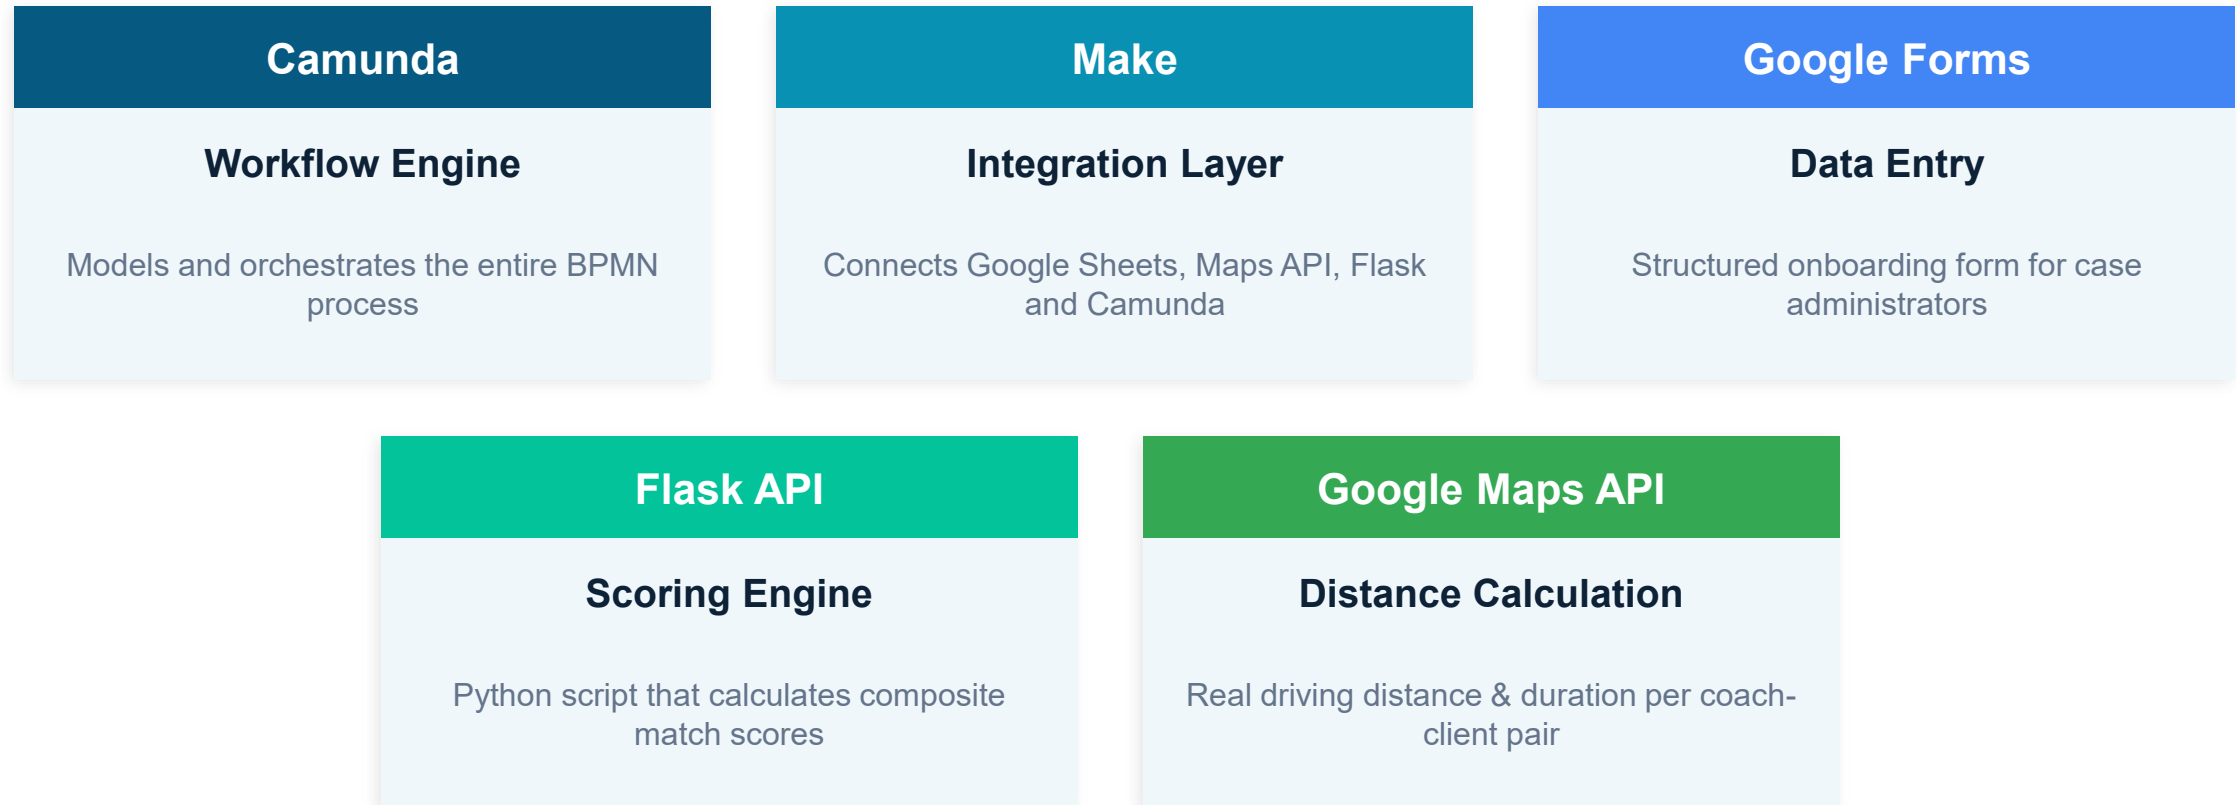

Case and coach info is scattered across emails, calls, and team notes.

TO-BE Process

TO-BE : The Technology Stack

We transformed a slow, opaque, manual process into a transparent, automated, and human-verified workflow - helping families get support faster.

THANK YOU

